What happened to Christmas?

Christian Christmas banned as offensive!

Editorial

By Eddy Morrison

Well its happening again! Christmas that is and this year is no exception that we continue to see the advance of the Liberal Marxist state's advance into what was once our most sacred and looked forward too festival.
Remember last year when the Queen's speech broke new records in pandering to the multi-racial lie machine? We shudder to think what this years offering will bring - a Royal call to abolish all the White Nationalists organisations in Britain?
And on all fronts the Politically Correct Brigade continue to attack our Christian festival of Christmas. The media is full of stories coming from many sources on the de-Christianisation of Christmas. The whole holiday is being turned into a celebration of a 'multi-faith' carnival!

Government offices are issuing edicts forbidding the mentioning of Christianity in context with Christmas as it may 'offend' Muslims, Hindus, and probably Aztecs for all we know. I would not put anything past these PC lunatics.
Here's a classic example from the Royal Mail -Hindus are demanding that the Royal Mail withdraws one of this year's Christmas stamps, claiming the mother and child image it represents is insulting to their religion. The 68p Christmas stamp, which would be used to send mail to India, features a man and woman with Hindu markings worshipping the infant Christ.
Ramesh Kallidai, secretary general of the Hindu Forum of Britain, said the image was insensitive, because it showed people who were clearly Hindu worshipping Christ. Just another example of the PC madmen and women of the Royal mail shooting themselves in the foot!

Its not just happening in Britain either - here's a snippet from the United States:- "Kindergartners at a public school in Oregon were invited to bring cards to a Christmas party, but a teacher barred one student from distributing his holiday greeting because it mentioned Jesus Christ, prompting a lawsuit filed yesterday.
The Gresham-Barlow district near Portland said Justin Cortez could not distribute the Christmas card because it would violate district policies prohibiting school officials from promoting one religion over another and advocating a particular religious position. "

The ancient festival of our Celtic ancestors Yule was merged with Christian Christmas to give us our major celebration of the year. For all White Britons it is an important occasion but like every other aspect of our great heritage it is slowly being destroyed!

BPP BURNLEY MEETING

Sunday November 20th 2005

A 'star-studded' BPP gathering restored Burnley to the bosom of radical White Nationalist politics.

Forty-five White Nationalists this afternoon converged upon a Burnley venue where both the proprietor and the patrons gave us a warm and comradely welcome. As with the Northants Spearhead meeting and the recent Bradford Remembrance Day ceremony, today's event attracted an impressive array of White Nationalist veterans. As at each of these events, John Tyndall's memory and spirit were sources of inspiration and references to JT drew warm applause.

Called on the theme of 'Bring Burnley Back To The British' - the rally pulled no punches in its defence of traditional White Nationalist principles. Speakers included Ken Shapcott, Burnley BPP Organiser, Eddy Morrison, BPP National Organiser, BPP Youth Division Organiser Dave Jones and Heritage and Destiny Deputy Editor and leading BPP speaker Pete Rushton.
John Wood coordinated the proceedings and a watchful eye, both inside and externally, was maintained by BPP Security.

The afternoon passed off peacefully and the meeting was followed by a relaxing social. A healthy collection and sales of badges and literature made a welcome addition to BPP funds.
Ken Shapcott prompted many supportive comments when he said that the BPP has now planted its flag firmly in the fertile soil of a White community which the BNP leadership has for too long regarded as its own. The BNP, Ken said, has lost its mandate to speak for the White Community and the BPP is the obvious alternative voice or that Community.
Peter Rushton reminded us all of the rise of the Race Acts but said that these Acts and open-ended immigration are the real source of racial tension. Pete gave a special mention to arrested Patriots Ernst Zundel and David Irving and all present pledged support to such victims of the Race Act tyranny, Mark Collett and Nick Griffin, despite the BPP's political differences with them. They are still both victims of an ignoble law.
Eddy Morrison ended the meeting with a defiant renewal of the BPP's refusal to bow before ZOG and renewed all earlier vows to fight with every means at our disposal until the battle is won. New members were signed up and plans made for a further and rapid expansion of the BPP throughout the North-West.

Report by Rob McNeil. (Leeds BPP)

A rapid expansion of the BPP in the town is planned with a 'Day of Action' in the New year. The BPP is also seriously considering contesting the May2006 council elections in Burnley in a ward yet to be selected.
The British People's Party has arrived in Burnley and is here to stay!

SHRINE MADE FOR 7/7 BOMBER R&R

THE uncle of 7/7 suicide bomber Shehzad Tanweer sparked fury recently by saying he is turning his "heroic" nephew's grave into a shrine. Tahir Pervez said: "Tanweer did nothing wrong. He died a jihadi (holy warrior) and that is why we wanted him buried in Pakistan, on Islamic soil."

Pervez added: "I have no sorrow for those who died in London. They do not take the name of Allah and look at all the innocent Muslims being killed around the world. My nephew has died — why should I worry about people dying in London."

His comments have enraged families of those killed in the July 7 attacks.

John and June Taylor, whose 24-year-old daughter Carrie was one of Tanweer's seven victims at Aldgate station, said in a statement: "These outrageous comments show there are some evil, despicable people who have a perverted view of life. "Tanweer is not a martyr in his faith. He is just a common murderer of innocent people."

Pervez, 40, brother of Tanweer's mum Parveen, said he wanted Muslim fundamentalists to come to Tanweer's grave because his nephew died a holy warrior in the name of Allah

JAMAICAN MURDERERS

With more than 1,400 persons murdered since the year started, the country's crime problem seems to be emerging as one of the main reasons given by persons who have opted to migrate from Jamaica.

Statistics from the Planning Institute of Jamaica's (PIOJ) Economic and Social Survey 2004 indicate a slight increase in the number of persons emigrating to Canada and the United Kingdom for the period 2003-2004.

In 2003, 1,981 persons migrated to Canada. This figure climbed to 2,130 in 2004.

For the United Kingdom, there was also an increase , though slight, from 479 in 2003 to 500 persons in 2004.

Data from the United States Department of Homeland Security's website showed a similar increase in migration to that country by Jamaicans. In 2003, 13,082 persons migrated to that country with 13,565, doing so in 2004

AGAINST THE BACKDROP of new research showing high levels of congenital defects in children born to such parents, Keighley MP Ann Cryer is calling for an end to the UK Pakistani community's tradition of marriages between 1st cousins.

The research, as described on last night's BBC late-night news, shows that children born to Pakistani Community 1st cousins are 13 times more likely to suffer from congenital and severe physical and other defects.

Ann Cryer, MP, said that because most 1st cousin marriages take place in Pakistan, the UK authorities have little prior influence. Retrospective UK action, like her call for an end to these marriages, might seem ineffective but Ann Cryer sees the need of pre-emptive education programmes designed to make young girls from the Pakistani Community think hard about the risks of delivering a handicapped child and the lifelong commitment of caring for it.

THE IMMORALITY OF OUR 'ROCK STARS' continues...

HANOI, Vietnam - Authorities said they had arested former British rock star Gary Glitter over his alleged relationship with a Vietnamese teenager.

Foreign Ministry spokesman Le Dung said officials have confirmed that Glitter, 61, whose real name is Paul Francis Gadd, was residing in a home in southern Vung Tau city and had applied for permanent resident status in Vietnam.

Glitter rose to fame with glam-rock songs in the 1970s, most notably his only U.S. hit, "Rock and Roll Part 2," a largely instrumental song that has been a staple at stadium sporting events for years. Among his other songs hits were "I'm the Leader of the Gang (I Am)" and "Do You Wanna Touch."

Glitter fell from grace in 1999 when he was convicted in Britain of possessing child pornography. He served half of a four-month jail sentence before being released. He later went to Cambodia and was permanently expelled in 2002, though Cambodian officials did not specify his crime or file charges.

Dung said authorities have conducted interviews with a 15-year-old girl who they found in the home rented by Glitter.

"If evidence of a (legal) violation is found against Mr. Paul Francis, and especially evidence of sexual child abuse, I believe that very strict legal measures will apply to him," he said.

In Vietnam, the crime of sexually abusing a child can lead to the death penalty

BPP Comment: Just like most areas of our 'famous people' society, the music industry is ROTTEN to the core! Totally hyprocritical, the likes of shambling disgrace Geldoff for instance squeals on about Aid for Africa and hates patriotism. If you want to get ahead in the music business then you need to be a pervert, a communist or a drug addict... preferably all three! Another area of society that needs another massive clean up. Never give ANYTHING to these "Band Aid" events which line the pockets of Black Third World dictators.

COMMON SENSE FROM BLACK BISHOP!

The English "should reclaim their identity" and "multiculturalism has left the English embarrassed about celebrating their true national identity", Britain's first black archbishop has said. Dr John Sentamu, who will be enthroned as Archbishop of York next week, said a failure to rediscover English culture would fuel greater political extremism.

"England is the culture I have lived in, I have loved," the Ugandan-born cleric told The Times newspaper.

He called for the English to properly mark St George's Day on 23 April.

"I speak as a foreigner really," he told the newspaper. "The English are somehow embarrassed about some of the good things they have done. Multiculturalism has seemed to imply, wrongly for me, "Let other cultures be allowed to express themselves but do not let the majority culture at all tell us its glories, its struggles, its joys, its pains," said Dr John Sentamu. Born in Uganda, Dr Sentamu said he would not be where he was today were it not for the British Empire and the English teachers and missionaries who worked in Africa.

"What is it to be English? It is a very serious question. When you ask a lot of people in this country they are very vague. "Multiculturalism has seemed to imply, wrongly for me, 'Let other cultures be allowed to express themselves but do not let the majority culture at all tell us its glories, its struggles, its joys, its pains'".

MARXIST LABOUR'S NEW GULAG

By Eddy Morrison

I am writing this on a day when two separate Race trials are taking place. In London at the Old Bailey, Kevin Quinn, Leader of N9S, together with others from the Racial Volunteer Force are facing sentencing for the crime of producing a magazine and in Comrade Quinn's case, merely POSSESSING a number of copies of a now banned publication 'The Longest Hatred'. The sentences ranged up to five years in prison - the longest handed out for 'Race crimes'. The other and far more publicised case is the appearance of Nick Griffin and Mark Collett at Leeds Crown Court when it looks like their trial date will be set for January 2006. We have issues with Mr. Griffin as he has quite unwarrantedly proscribed the BPP – BUT and it is no small but – these two men are being dragged before the courts under the truly evil race Relations Act and we are morally bound to support them, as we support all White Britons under attack from Marxist New Labour's regime of terror and oppression.

It is to the British people however that we address this short article. Do YOU, members of the general public reading this magazine fully understand what is going on in your own country? Do you realist that in Blair's New Communist Britain – White Nationalists are being hounded, arrested, fined; homes raided and in some cases are being jailed or face jail?

The BPP raises the issues of freedom of thought, freedom and expression at every opportunity, but what is really needed is for the White masses to turn off their brainwashing boxes for a moment and turn their minds from the endless trash of 'TV Soaps' to give vent to their feelings that free speech in Britain NO LONGER EXISTS!

People of Britain WAKE UP! The best way to fight back for free speech – your free speech and free thought – is to ORGANISE! That means joining and getting active in a party such as the British People's Party. Do it now before it is too late!

Pink Piglet in holy stink

Who can possibly be offended by a little pink cartoon character?

Things get dafter by the day. Today is a December day. However, news from the West Midlands suggests that it could be the first of April, but the only fools are the chumps who have completely lost the plot at Dudley Council.

In a bid to avoid offending Muslims who work in, or deal with, the council benefit department, the Conservative controlled Council has ordered a ban on novelty items featuring pigs! Yes indeed, products including toys, porcelain and calendars must be removed or covered up. Staff have even been instructed to remove or cover up a tissue box featuring Winnie the Pooh and his cute and harmless little friend Piglet.

The banning orders were issued after a Muslim worker complained. He said that he was offended by some items at Dudley Council in the West Midlands. The partner of one worker in the department said, "It's caused a bit of an atmosphere in the office. The staff did comply, but it's just crazy. Ornaments that have been there for years have been removed."

Holy festival

The Council's head of finance said that ONE member of staff had been offended by the products in the run-up to the holy festival of Ramadan, which starts on Tuesday 4th October. He said that the decision, whether the items should be allowed after Ramadan, will be taken after the festival is over.

"It's a tolerance of people's beliefs," said Mahbubur Rahman, a Labour Muslim Councilor who has backed the ban.

What must be going on in the minds of those charged with looking after our councils? If ONE Muslim is offended by cartoon characters and parts of our popular culture, then instead of kneeling before the Will of Allah, our public officials should just have a good laugh, and should suggest that the gentleman looks for the cheapest flight to a country where the display of such items is not a part of that country's culture!

2005: A NATIONALIST ODYSSEY

by Eddy Morrison

At present, the United Kingdom Nationalist scene is full of talks of Unity, yet never have the White Nationalist forces of these islands been more splintered or divided.

Effectively, the White Nationalists – and the "ethno-nationalist" British National Party - are poles apart. Smaller groups such as ourselves, the BPP, are growing rapidly but are still small. There is also a myriad of smaller grouplets coming and going as the weeks pass.

Looking at the stance of the various Nationalist organisations, I can see no real chance of unity. All I can see are bands of White Nationalists all over Great Britain set in their ways and betting on one strategy or another to bring some sort of success.

The Party making all the running is of course the British National Party in its new and disturbing form, led by Nick Griffin. The British People's party will TRY not to attack the leadership of the BNP with its 'populist' strategy, tactics and policy changes . That's all we can promise because some of the stuff floating about at the moment is outrageous.

As for any chance of unity, this writer's belief is that it is now dead in the water. We started off with the naive hope that unity could be achieved, we then went on paying lip service to this ideal as many other Nationalists are doing – with the oft repeated cry "Don't attack other nationalist groups' agendas – what about unity?"

Well what about unity? It is now an impossible dream. To us, as representatives of the more hard core (ultras) of the White Nationalist movement there are only a limited number of choices.

The BPP has in its basic principles incorporated:-

1. No compromise on humane involuntary repatriation and the goal of a White Britain. This must be based around a sensible and practical way of achieving a phased and humane repatriation programme over a number of years. Other countries have done it in the past. It is not impossible and should be viewed on as beneficial to ALL the races concerned and not as a punitive measure.

2. A return to active street politics. Demonstrations, counter demonstrations and marches should be stepped up continually to attract the young Whites of the UK to our standards. Only by offering them street action can we show them we are a Movement as opposed to yet another boring old political party such as Labour or Tory.

3. No compromise over homosexuality. It should be made illegal again and stiff penalties imposed on the "pink Mafia" now infiltrating Society at all levels.

4. Total opposition to Zionism and Israel and all their supporters. Solidarity with the oppressed Arab world, who are our natural allies against the New World Order.

There are other principles involved too, strategic, tactical and ideological, but the above ones are those which are being jettisoned by some groups in the hope of a quick fix solution to getting into power.

WE MUST SECURE THE EXISTENCE OF OUR PEOPLE AND A FUTURE FOR WHITE CHILDREN!

"For what does it profit a man if he gains the whole world, yet loses his soul?"

Little Media interest in Race Murder

Asian gang members who boasted they had killed a White man have been found guilty of murder. Innocent Christopher Yates, 30, (above right)was knocked to the ground and his head kicked like a football last November, the Old Bailey was told.

Sajid Zulfiqar, 25, Zahid Bashir, 23, and Imran Maqsood, 21, of Ilford, East London, (below right) each received life sentences for their crime but will be back on the streets in 15 years.

The court heard that after the attack Zulfiqar shouted: "We have killed the White man. That will teach an Englishman to interfere in Paki business!" This shows that the attack was obviously racially motivated but the Judge dismissed this and did not give them the 30 recommended for racially motivated murder.

After the verdicts, Mr Yates' family released a statement which said: "These are evil men and people like this should not be free to roam about our streets hurting innocent people."

As usual the Media saw fit to ignore this murder of the White man but imagine their coverage of the story if Christopher had been Black and he had been murdered by three Whites!!

Why the Sudden Clampdown on Revisionists?

Political heretics being rounded up

Virtually unreported by the mainstream media and given little prominence even by those outlets that have reported it – probably so as not to alert too many – recent weeks have seen a major clampdown across the planet. On both sides of the Atlantic, historians, researchers and investigators have been arrested, detained and deported to Germany to face charges of "Holocaust denial."

Among their number is German born Ernst Zundel, who immigrated to Canada in 1958 to work as a graphic artist. In the 1980's, he published a book called "Did Six Million Really Die?" and thereafter continued publishing and questioning conventional notions surrounding the Holocaust.

In 1985, he was charged with "publishing false news" and a series of trials followed between 1985 and 1988. In his defence he brought in gas chamber experts, other historians and cross-examined a number of Holocaust survivors, who reportedly fell apart under questioning.

In 2003 he was arrested for an alleged immigration violation while visiting the United States. Thereafter he was deported back to Canada, where he was held in solitary confinement in a maximum-security jail for nearly 2 years before being deported back to Germany.

Upon arrival in Mannheim, Germany, the 65-year-old Zundel was charged with "Holocaust denial," an offence that carries a penalty of up to 5 years in jail.

Likewise, Germar Rudolph was also recently deported back to Germany to face similar charges. A German-trained chemist, Rudolf re-examined Auschwitz and Birkenau in 1989 for traces of Zyklon B, the gas the Nazis are supposed to have used to gas millions. As a scientist, he found the "gassing" claims to be scientifically untenable and therefore, in the eyes of German law, was judged to be "denying the Holocaust."

He was sentenced in Germany to 14 months in jail but fled to the US before he served time. However, he was arrested on November 18, 2005 in Chicago, and extradited back to Germany.

Similarly, British historian David Irving was arrested on November 14, 2005, while visiting Vienna at the invitation of students from the city's university. He was to have spoken of Adolph Eichmann's offer to Jewish leaders in Budapest in 1944, to release Hungarian Jews in exchange for cash or trucks.

However, before he could address students he was arrested on charges brought against him nearly sixteen years ago, of publicly denying aspects of the Holocaust.

According to an Austrian state prosecutor, if convicted he could face up 20 years in jail.

Not only have America and Canada been deporting individuals to Germany to face the "Holocaust denial" charge, the Netherlands has too.

A Belgian national, Siegfried Verbeke, was charged with denying the Holocaust in August of this year, after he questioned the Anne Frank story. Two months later on October 6th, the Netherlands agreed to extradite him to Germany, where he faces 14 months in prison.

So why the sudden clampdown on Revisionists, and why now?

It's been suggested that the Internet has panicked the Zionists, who to a large extent owe their power and influence to the Holocaust. After all, Israel was founded on its memory and if it's proven to be a lie, or at least a gross exaggeration, the power the Zionists' hold over ordinary there rank and file could be undermined. For the very notion of the Holocaust has been used not only to extract financial redress from other nations but also to keep ordinary Israelis compliant.

In effect, it has become like a grotesque doll wielded by witch doctors, used to keep individuals from asking too many questions, from thinking for themselves, or stepping out of line.

Formally the likes of Ernst Zundel might have been written off as cranks or extremists but the Internet changed that. It allows isolated individuals to question, often quite convincingly, the official line touted by the establishment and the mainstream media .Moreover, the Internet illustrates that the accused are not "Holocaust deniers" – in the sense that they deny the Holocaust ever took place – or "right wing extremists" intent on resurrecting the Third Reich. That's what the mainstream media would have us believe, but almost without exception, the accused admit that the Nazis were guilty of gross human rights abuses. What's at issue here are the numbers of dead, how they died, and whether there was any clear plan of genocide at all.

In effect these men were engaged in historical inquiry, trying to establish the truth and broadcasting their findings, and that cannot be allowed in the New World Order. Without even questioning what happened during the Holocaust, we should be asking ourselves: if it's necessary to each such draconian measures against those who ask questions, what exactly is being protected? Are historical truths and the memory of Holocaust victims being defended, or is it one of the foundations of the New World Order, or Zionist power?

Finally, a 1948 Red Cross report details nearly a quarter of a million Jews died in Nazi concentration camps but found no evidence of Genocide. This is in distinct contrast to the figure touted nowadays by the mainstream media and portrayed by Hollywood. At the time, the Red Cross was a neutral body with no political axe to grind, so why the difference? And we need to ask ourselves not only why there is such a difference in the numbers, but also why those who ask such questions are being silenced?

Like they say: "he who controls the past, controls the present..." and our perception of past events shapes the way we look at the world around us now. The Zionists understand this and know that the idea of the "Holocaust" is crucial to their power. Which is why such harsh measures are being exacted against those who ask too many questions.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:
As I write this, rioting by predominantly immigrant youths continues unabated in France for the twelfth consecutive night. One wonders what the French governments response will e when the dust finally settles. I would hazard a guess that it will be the same line our government would take if and when the same thing happens here; blame White racism and throw even more money at immigrant groups.
I do not know what life is like for an immigrant in France, but if it is so awful that it causes them to riot in protest as the media would suggest, why don't they pack their bags and return to the country they came from?

D.Summers (Bolton)

Sir:
I do not understand the fuss about a few hundred Turkish immigrants being smuggled into the UK. With Blair trying to get Turkey signed up to the EU, they'll all be able to come to the UK legally and live happy ever after on our benefit system.

Mark Twiddy (East London)

Sir:
I read and enjoyed Steve's article in the October issue, where he used the term "social justice".
I think "National Freedom and Social Justice" is an old slogan we could use again and would appeal to many. There is a great deal of social injustice in our country, while government gives millions in overseas 'aid', many good organisations are restricted to self funding. Two examples of this are hospices and air ambulance, I am sure there are many more, maybe members could help to compile a 'list of shame'?
We need a government that puts its own folk first.
National Freedom - Social Justice!

Jim (Tipton 14)

Sir:
Staff at Dudley council have been old to remove toy pigs from their desks because a Muslim worker has complained about them. Would similar attention be paid to the concerns of a Christian worker who complained of the use of the words 'Jesus Christ' as a swear word?

Mark Twiddy (East London)

Sir
I'm writing from South London here.
I just wanted to let someone know that nothing today has brought a smile to my face like the following picture did:
www.nationalistalliance.org/bradfordremembrance8.jpg
I am only a young patriot myself (18) but its good to see that Britons significantly younger than myself are being brought up in such a way and are willingly wearing BPP stickers. Well done and congratulations on the successful day.
Thanks

Sir:
A lady friend of ours was shopping with my wife the other day when they saw a poppy seller outside W.H. SMITHS. This friend turned to my wife and said 'Why do the old people always sell poppies?' My wife explained that they were usually ex service people who'd actually seen some sort of conflict during their service careers!
I was amazed that this 41 year old ENGLISH woman knew absolutely nothing about Rememberance Sunday, but had, a few days before positively gushed with excitement about the Diwali celebrations at her kid's school!

Tony K. (Brighton)

Sir:
We've heard a lot on television recently about the death of Rosa Parks, the black woman who, decades ago, would'nt give up her seat on a bus for a white person in the United States. National news on all TV channels informed us about it.

Only months ago, Richard Whelan, a young White man was stabbed to death on a double decker bus by a black racist thug in North London. Predictably, not one national TV channel deemed the tragedy as significant enough to be worthy of any coverage. Or should the word be "suitable" rather than "significant"?

So the racist killer of Whelan is in custody, and his trial in January will be ignored by the media in much the same way as his despicable crime was. We're used to it now, but enemies of Britain take note, more and more people are waking up to the appalling race bias of the media.

Phil Tucker (Leicester)

Sir:
I saw this in the Daily Express:

Pub Loses St George's Day Appeal

A legal bid to get St George's Day recognised as a special occasion was defeated in the High Court yesterday.

Pub landlord Tony Bennett launched the action after magistrates refused his application for a license extension on April 23.

JP's in Norwich ruled Mr Bennett, 48, could not open The Otter, in Thorpe Marriott, for an extra hour because St. George's Day was "not special".

Mr Bennett, who wants April 23 to be declared a national holiday in England, described the decision as "perverse and illogical" and took his case to the High Court.

But district judge Michael Supperstone refused permission for a judicial review saying there was "no basis" to challenge the decision. He then said the case was "hypothetical" as the law had since changed with new licensing legislation governing round the clock drinking.

Outside court Mr Bennett's solicitor Robin Tilbrook said: "It is a black day when a court of law refuses to make a declaration that St George's Day is a special day in England.
"This was a magistrates bench that had been granting extensions for St Patrick's Day but wouldn't grant one for St George's Day. In our view that's wrong."

Nice to see what our judges think of a day for those English amongst us, whether we are Christian or not. The other nations within the United Kingdom acknowledge the importance for their respective days, why can't we?

Can you really see a court in Dublin ruling that a pub there can have extended hours for St George's Day and refusing to allow a pub in the same city have extended hours for St Patrick's Day?

KEEPING WOMEN SAFE

By a BPP Women's Division member

Things women should know to stay safe:

Please take the time to read these pointers. There may just be one or two you hadn't thought of. After reading this forward it to someone you care about. It never hurts to be careful in this crazy world we live in.

Unfortunately, the sale and use of Mace spray is prohibited in this country. It is just one of the stupid laws that stop people, especially vulnerable women, from being able to protect themselves. There are, however, several self-protection methods open to women that are perfectly legal. Let us have a look at some of them...

1. Tip from Tae Kwon Do: The elbow is the strongest point on your body. If you are close enough to use it, do so!!
2. If a robber asks for your handbag, Do not hand it to him! Toss it away from you.... he is probably more interested in your handbag than you and he will go for the handbag. Run like mad in the other direction!
3. If you are ever thrown into the boot of a car: Kick out the back tail lights and stick your arm through the hole and start waving. The driver won't see you but everybody else will. This has saved lives.
4. Women have a tendency to get into their cars after shopping, eating, working, etc., and just sit (doing their cheque book, or making a list).
Don't do this! A predator could be watching you, and this is the perfect opportunity for him to get in on the passenger side and attack you. As soon as you get into your car, lock the doors and leave.
5. A few notes about getting into your car in a car park:
A.) Be aware! Look around you, look into your car at the passenger side floor and check the back seat.
B.) If you are parked next to a big van, enter your car from the passenger door.
Most attackers surprise their victims by pulling them into their vans while the women are attempting to get into their cars.
6. Look at the car parked on the driver's side of your vehicle and the passenger side. If a male is sitting alone in the seat nearest your car, you may want to walk back into the shop, or work, and get a guard/policeman to walk you back out. It is always better to be safe that sorry (And better paranoid than dead!)
7. Always take the lift instead of the stairs. Stairwells are horrible places to be alone and the perfect crime spot.
8. If the predator has a gun and you are not under his control, Always run! The predator will only hit you (a running target) 4 in 100 times; and even then, it most likely will not be in a vital organ. Run!
9. As women, we are always trying to be sympathetic. Stop it! It may get you raped, or killed. Ted Bundy, the serial killer, was a good-looking, well educated man, who always played on the sympathies of unsuspecting women. He walked with a cane, or a limp, and often asked "for help" into his vehicle or with his vehicle, which is when he abducted his next victim.
10. Another Safety Point: Someone just told me that her friend heard a crying baby outside her door the night before last, and she called the police because it was late and she thought it was weird. The police told her 'Whatever you do, do not open the door!. "The lady then said that it sounded like the baby had crawled near a window, and she was worried that it would crawl to the street and get run over. The policeman said, "We already have a unit on the way, whatever you do, do not open the door." He told her that they think a serial killer has a baby's cry recorded and uses it to coax women out of their homes thinking that someone dropped off a baby. He said they have not verified it, but have had several calls by women saying that they hear babies' cries outside their doors when they're home alone at night.
11. Any woman can carry a curling comb in her pocket. This comb has a long protruded point that can be used to inflict serious injury to an attacker. I can think of no situation where a court of law would convict a woman under threat of serious assault of using unnecessary force.
12. Another handy weapon is an ordinary lead pencil. It is a very innocuous item but again, it can do an awful lot of damage when held in the palm of the hand and thrust into an assailant's face. If you can spit into the attacker's face, his natural reaction will be to recoil in disgust! This just might give you time to get away.
I said at the beginning of this article that Mace sprays were prohibited. There is nothing, however, to stop you purchasing a small paint aerosol from a motorists' shop. Choose a bright distinctive colour. A squirt of that in the eyes will not only disable but may be an aid to identification in the immediate future.
All the above scenarios have been used by attackers, these are some of the ways you may thwart them. Assaults on women is 99% male crime and those who commit these offences are often mentally unbalanced. Don't plead, it won't do any good. In some cases, pleading will excite the aggressor even more. Never go out unaccompanied at night. Never try to save money by walking home; get a taxi. In many areas, taxi companies employ women drivers who only pick up women passengers. It is always a good idea to enquire if this service is provided when booking a cab.

Please pass this on. I'd like you to forward this to all the women you know. It may save a life. A candle is not dimmed by lighting another candle. I was going to send this to the ladies only, but guys, if you love your mothers, wives, sisters, daughters, etc., you may want to pass it onto them, as well. Send this to any woman you know that may need to be reminded that the world we live in has a lot of crazies in it and it's better safe than sorry. The above is directed at women, but remember guys you may also be targeted the same way or your girlfriend/wife.

YULETIDE GREETINGS

This is the first Yuletide of the British People's Party and already, a mere three months after its creation, we are beginning to see a rapid growth in our movement.

As most of you know, the party was formed after the split with the Nationalist Alliance. This came about after a meeting of the National Executive Council of the NA on September 18th this year. I chaired the meeting to try and thrash out problems within the National Council. Unfortunately, the differences of opinion between various council members were so very irreconcilable that I felt that the only honourable thing left was for me to resign both my position as National Organiser and membership. With my resignation, came the resignations of other senior National Council members and within actual minutes, the British People's Party was born.

We were told that we were on a hiding to nothing; there was no way that we would survive now that we had quit the NA. we were left penniless and no membership; Nothing! We wouldn't stand a chance now that we had quit the NA. How very wrong they were!!!

So what did we have that enabled us to move so quickly into producing a nationalist party virtually overnight? Granted, we had no money and no members but between the three senior officers who had resigned were over a hundred years of nationalist political experience. This, we reckoned, must count for something! We had membership lists of both the NA and the former White Nationalist Party and from these, came a handful of members who wanted to stay by their old comrades in this new venture. We also had the PO Box number; we had the Imperium magazine and the printing facilities to publish it. We had skilled writers and speakers but most of all, we had the guts and determination to succeed! It wasn't easy; every penny had to do the work of two. Postage costs were the biggest expense in the very early days but by digging deep into our own pockets, we managed to contact most of the old membership and sent them a copy of our manifesto.

Within the first two weeks, we had around 40 members signed up. From there, we have had a steady influx of enquiries; not only from the NA but from the BNP as well. We were back in business! This time, however, we are not going to make the same mistakes as before. We do not run the party through the committee system, we firmly believe in direct leadership, leading by example! While we welcome members from other nationalist groups, never again will we agree on a merger. If they wish to join us, we will accept them but we will expect them to follow our manifesto, our creed and our leadership.

Very soon, our efforts were seen to be getting results, we were increasing our membership and with the introduction of a new magazine, Vanguard, we were getting much-needed money into the party. It was decided that Imperium would become a quarterly magazine while Vanguard would be a more light-hearted publication and would be issued monthly. Yes, in three months, we are beginning to see daylight!

We have new regions springing up; a Youth Section, a Women's Division and an Overseas Organiser. Not bad for a party that was said could never happen!

Yuletide is traditionally a time of celebration, a time when family and friends gather round in the spirit of peace and goodwill. It is a time to remember; a time to look back. Today, however, is totally different; would any youngster be safe on the streets after dark? Better however, to ask, would any White youngster be safe? What has changed and why do our children live in fear? The streets are pretty much the same as they were fifty years ago, the lighting is much better, yet there is a sinister aura around when the winter nights draw in and there is the constant danger of violence lurking round the corner.

Society has changed over the years; the old values have gone and nothing has replaced them. We are back to the jungle, tribal rivalries rule the streets, Black drug barons fight it out with Asian mobs in Birmingham and our government tells us that multiculturalism is working! This is the same government that tells the nation that the BPP is an evil racist organisation; that it is against society and should be stamped out! They tell Joe Public that our words are lies and our message is one of hate!

They are right about one thing, we do hate... we hate the lies of our government and we hate the Liberal - Marxist traitors who made all this tragedy we now call Britain possible in the first instance!

My Yuletide message to you, fellow comrades, is this: I would urge you to enter 2006 in a spirit of hope for the future, the determination to make the BPP the prime party of national resurgence and to make a special effort, each and every one of you to recruit at least two members as quickly as you can. I know you will try, I know you will succeed. A happy Yuletide to you all!

John Wood

Its up to YOU! Years more of the same old con-men who couldn't give a damn about the British people - or a new virile government of White Nationalism - a government formed by the British People's Party for YOU - the White people of Britain!

Race Realism Takes a Step Forward

More strong evidence for the genetics of intelligence.

The moment the anti-racists and egalitarians have dreaded has now arrived. In September this year, University of Chicago geneticists published data in the prestigious journal Science that links two sets of genetic variations (alleles) to brain size, race, and spurts in human evolution. In particular, these genetic variations--arguably responsible for greater intelligence -were relatively common in Europe and Asia, but markedly less common in sub-Saharan Africa. Previously, the same researchers had shown these variations to be much more frequent in man than in other mammals, though our closest relatives, the chimpanzees, showed levels that suggest some evolution in the direction of humans.

This excellent new Chicago work has been carried out under the direction of a young Chinese, Dr. Bruce Lahn. His team had studied the prevalence of variants of two genes that are disabled or damaged in human cases of severe microcephaly, in which the brain develops to only 30 percent its normal size. The fact that they are damaged in microcephalics suggests they are necessary for normal brain growth.

Dr. Lahn's researchers examined the DNA of 1,184 people around the world--though not in racially mixed areas like North America, Russia and Australia. They estimated that one undamaged variation, microcephalin haplogroup D (let us call it variation one, or V1) first appeared around 40,000 BC and has since spread to some 70 percent of humans. It is more common in Europe, Asia, South America and Latin America than in Africa. At three percent, it is especially infrequent in Congo pygmies, whom Africans commonly regard as inferior.
A second variant of the gene, abnormal spindle-like microcephaly-associated haplogroup D (let us call it V2), arrived more recently, around 6,000 BC, and has since spread to 30 percent of humans. It is most common in Europe and the Middle East, somewhat less common in Asia, and distinctly rare in Africa.

Dr. Lahn and colleagues noted that the arrival of V1 coincided roughly with the first signs of human habitation and agriculture; V2 appeared about the time of the first cities and the development of written language. The Chicago team believes these new alleles gave rise to these important developments, and that their possessors reproduced quickly by occupying the new niches offered by agriculture and written language.

Geneticists can estimate the age of an allele by observing the number of mutations found in it and calculating back to when the allele first appeared in the most recent common ancestor. Mutations arise at predictable rates, and are considered to be a reasonably accurate measure of relatively short periods of evolution. It is by this method that scientists estimate it has been five to six million years since humans and chimpanzee had a common ancestor.

Needless to say, the Chicago scientists went to great pains not to pose too great a challenge to modern sensitivities about race and genes. At their press conference, they insisted there was "not necessarily" a connection between these gene variations and brain size. However, they found that sub-Saharan Blacks were the most distinct of the racial groups they studied, in that they had a markedly lower frequency of both variants.

The Chicago results are exactly what we would expect from the work of Professor Phil Rushton of University of Western Ontario, who has used modern brain scanning methods to establish a correlation as high as .40 between brain size and IQ. Needless to say, the Chicago researchers could not mention Prof. Rushton's name for fear of jeopardizing further funding. Some suspect they already have data in the pipeline linking these genetic variations directly to IQ, and that when they hold another press conference to announce these findings they want someone to attend.

Naturally, the authors wrote only of "geographical" and not of racial differences in the frequency of these alleles, but no one is fooled by this piety. They assured the press that their V work does not mean black Africans have a low IQ or any other disadvantage. At the same time, Dr. Lahn implied the opposite when he volunteered that Africans could well turn out to be blessed with still other variations that might be shown one day to give them advantages of their own. In other words, it may have been purely by accident that the advantage in Europeans and Asians had come to light first.

The findings came hard on the heels of work in Brisbane by Professor Nick Martin, who has found sizeable IQ differences within families associated with variations in the DNA on chromosomes 2 and 6. His work did not look for race differences in the distribution of these variations, but that would be an obvious area of research. At the same time, the October 24 issue of New York Magazine devoted eight pages to Gregory Cochran and Henry Harpending's theory that high rates of sphingolipid genetic diseases like Tay-Sachs in Ashkenazi Jews may be associated with a substantial advantage in IQ (their work originally appeared in the June issue of the British Journal of Biosocial Science).

The media and even the scientists themselves can hedge and fudge all they like, but their favourite "post-modern" pretense that there is no such thing as race is looking sillier all the time. The West's anti-racists have succeeded in suppressing most references to the g (general intelligence) factor and the London School that discovered and developed the concept, but they now face an assault from an unexpected quarter. Dr. Bruce Lahn may be more the diplomat than one normally finds in nature vs. nurture debates, but he got his first taste of dissent as a student rebel in his home town of Peking during the Tianenmen Square demonstrations. This suggests he has a strong dislike for Communism's tyrannical and useless environmentalism, and that he may have principles that will soon see him linked to his natural allies in the London School.

WHY YOU SHOULD JOIN THE BPP!

Why join the British People's Party? Good question. In the United Kingdom we already have two Nationalist parties - the British National Party and the smaller National Front. There are also a myriad of smaller groups and grouplets. There are some good pressure groups too - such as the International Third Position who do a fine job in their own field.

The British National Party - the biggest Nationalist party in Britain, which however, in our opinion has a very shaky leadership. The BNP recently in an attempt to curry favour with the media have dropped fundamental policy points. They have abandoned repatriation. They have abandoned street activities and confrontations with our enemies on the streets. They are handing back control of the streets, factories and housing estates to the extreme left scum of the Anti-Nazi League and their kind. This adoption of the respectable image has been tried dozens of times before - it doesn't work - you're still labelled "Nazis", "Fascists" and "racists".

The National Front has not dropped its main policies and still wants a complete repatriation of immigrants policy to be installed. After helping the NF for a number of years, the leadership of the BPP feel that although they are a decent White Nationalist group, their internal democratic structure; ultra monarchism and the fact that they put Loyalism and Ulster as one of their main agendas, when to us it is important but also a side-show to the GLOBAL racial struggle, means they are not a viable alternative. The NF will continue to carry on but its weakness of organisation will mean unfortunately it cannot expand. It is hampered greatly by a outdated Constitution. Of course NF members are welcome to stay in the NF and join the BPP!

Here's why we think YOU as a White Nationalist should give your support to the British People's Party:

1. We will never compromise our principles for the sake of trying to look "respectable"

2. We will take the battle on to the streets, factories and estates and meet the enemy head on.

3. We are a Movement based on Leadership and not the worst kind of Committeeism and democracy - where nobody is willing to make a decision or take responsibility.

4. We believe in building in stages a strong and organic Movement which moves into all levels of society. The BPP is classless and non-sectarian. We are part of a global struggle for the very survival of our race and nation.

DAYS OF FURY AS FRANCE BURNS!

The recent riots in France quickly spread to almost all parts of the country. Burning cars, widespread looting, uncontrolled mobs roaming the streets and the government doing little about it to control the situation. Had this happened in this country, and no doubt it will, I could have understood the Great British Public trying to live with it but in France???

The French have always been the first to protest about unwarranted intrusions into their lives; look at the French truck-drivers, farmers, etc. complaining about British imports. One would have thought that such an intrusion by alien hordes in their own back yard would have created howls of protest and immediate aggressive action.

However, it would appear that where Muslim rioters are concerned, the French are as reluctant to defend their nation as 90% of our own countrymen are. Where are the truckers blocking the streets? Where are the farmers with their tractors? The French can give us a forty break in the way of showing loyalty to their country but in this instance, they have failed to act on what is, most definitely, the biggest threat to their way of life that has been seen since the days of World War Two!

It is not only just France; one can see the same reluctance to combat this threat in Germany, Holland and Scandinavia. What is the matter with all these people? Have their governments succeeded in mass-brainwashing entire nations or is it that the White populace doesn't want to be labelled, 'Racist'?
rather suspect that the answer lies midway between these. No Western European government, including our own, wants to play the race card; they think it will cost them votes. The white nationals have been conned into believing that criticism of other races is totally unacceptable. Coupled together, these two factors have done much to damage our way of life and our heritage. The truth, however, is far different.

We are convinced that if any major party in Western Europe were to pursue a policy of total rejection of further immigration, they would win hands down at the next election. Once in control, that government could then bring about repatriation and start to cleanse their country of alien influences. It gives us, as nationalists, no pleasure in seeing those in power today, ignoring the problem time and time again. This is why we are here; this is why we carry on the fight despite overwhelming odds. Without us, without others like us, there would be nobody to drive home the truth. We have no choice but to keep trying and the one thing above all else that keeps us going, is our firm conviction that we are right!

BPP START PUSH INTO ULSTER

The British People's Party has started its push into Ulster. This month, BPP HQ has sent a special letter to EVERY Ulster contact known, urging the setting up of a solid region of the Party in the province. Below is a the text of the letter sent out to scores of Ulster Loyalists:-

Dear White Nationalist,

Only a little more than a year ago, the White Nationalist Party was a growing Movement in Ulster. The WNP had units in many towns and over a two year period had proven itself with a whole host of activities. The WNP as you may know was dissolved with its members being encouraged to merge into a unity organisation. Subsequent to this, on the 18th September, a new party – the British People's Party was born and is now making strong headway in many parts of the United Kingdom.

However our momentum in Ulster is slow, and it is our hope, many of us former WNP members and organisers and I myself being the founder of the WNP, wish not only to repeat the success of the WNP in Ulster but to make the BPP the strongest TRUE White Nationalist party in the province.

There are scores of former WNP members across Ulster and they MUST be reactivated into the BPP. This is the only way that all the hard work put in by these former WNP comrades will not be wasted! We can quickly and efficiently restore a strong White Nationalist presence in Ulster that will not only be the most promising growth area for the BPP but also show those people who think that White Nationalism is dead in the province that they could not be more wrong. We are alive and kicking in the form of the BPP!

To do this we need men and women to step forward to be the organisers and active members that will once again see Ulster as the leading area for White nationalist growth in Great Britain. To do this we need YOU!

Only Ulster patriots can organise a resurgent White Nationalist movement in Northern Ireland. We of the mainland BPP will give EVERY help and assistance we can and as in the WNP days are more than willing to send over speakers and organisers to assist and advise. But the road to building a mass and viable Movement in Ulster lies with YOU.

Take this opportunity. We, like you, are Loyalists who will fight tooth and nail so that Ulster may remain British. Join us and let us together build the BPP in Ulster so that Ulster might have a true and strong White Nationalist voice once again!

The BPP already has a number of members in Ulster. We will in the New Year be appointing a Regional Organiser. We already have a contact address for Ulster patriots who wish to contact Ulster BPP - UlsterBPP@ulsterloyalist.com.
The British People's Party is a registered political party in England, Scotland and Wales. We now need to register in Northern Ireland which costs another £150.00. Can you help us raise this vital amount? Funds coming in are already allocated for our mainland propaganda offensive so any extra donations towrds this £150.00 would help greatly. Send cheque or PO or pay through PayPal on our donations pagec on our website.

New institute to promote multiculturalism in Britain...

...with YOUR cash!

British 'experts' and academics working in the area of multiculturalism plan to establish an international research centre to explore how divided communities in Britain can be brought together. (Yet another FUTILE money wasting project!)

The research and teaching centre will be known as the Institute of Community Cohesion and will involve researchers from the universities of Leicester, De Montfort, Coventry and Warwick.

The plans assume much significance in the light of recent disturbances in the Lozells area of Birmingham where youths from Asian and Afro-Caribbean communities clashed, leaving two people dead.

The centre will specialise in advising governments and large organisations, including police forces and local councils, on building tolerant and safe communities.

The centre will be led by Ted Cantle, an advisor to the government on community relations. He was the author of a major report on the riots in Bradford, Oldham and Burnley in 2002.

In the report, Cantle had stated that many British towns and cities were divided along racial and religious lines and were leading "parallel lives".

But he praised the work carried out in Leicester to ensure that people of different backgrounds respect and understand each other. Leicester has a large population of Gujarat origin.

Cantle told the Leicester Mercury: "Together, we have a formidable team of experts and there is nothing currently which brings people in this field together anywhere in the world.

"We want the institute to become an international centre of excellence, known throughout the world for developing community cohesion work in every country which is struggling with these issues. Despite what we saw on July 7 with the bombings in London, the model of multiculturalism in Britain is respected throughout the world."

Resham Singh Sandhu, chairman of the Leicester Council of Faiths, which has been praised for its work to unite communities, told the paper: "A lot of people just don't know what the term community cohesion means, these people will have to explain this academic concept to people.

"For me, it means people getting on well with their neighbours, understanding each other and sharing their festivals.

"I welcome the creation of the institute because it will enhance Leicester's reputation as a place where people of different backgrounds get along with each other."

The truth of the matter is multiculturalism DOES NOT WORK (Look at the recent rioting in Birmingham and the ongoing rioting in France) yet they continue to throw tax payers money at idiotic and useless 'schemes' like this in the pretence that all it takes is 'understanding'...

How much more will be wasted before they eventually realise that all this 'living in harmony' is purely egalitarianist fiction?

'And as the Fat Controller raised his flag a dozen or more Asylum seekers leapt onboard Annie and Clarabel..'

The Far Wrong in Politics

Multi-racist propaganda seriously pollutes the cultural and intellectual environment of Western society these days. Disguising itself as liberal philosophy, it corrupts the native language in its efforts to ignore all the evidence of science, history, evolution and common sense. Like Humpty Dumpty, it chooses to invest words with its own tendentious connotation. Such semantic forgery, like the monetary version, is rooted in worthlessness and threatens the stability and cohesion of any society. This being so, we all have a duty to be especially vigilant when issues like race and nationhood are under discussion. There follow some examples of the terms commonly misused by liberals in their social engineering follies.

• 'Race' refers to a human classification based on certain physical characteristics like skin colour, bone structure and hair texture. Liberals contend that racial differences are entirely superficial; a contention which fails to explain the very wide differences in intellectual performance and cultural development which have separated the different races throughout history.

• 'Nation' refers to a homeland occupied by many generations of the same racial ancestry, with a common language and cultural heritage. The related term 'society' is similarly defined; from which it follows that the so-called 'multi-cultural' society is a contradiction in terms. Not surprisingly then, multi-racist propagandists commonly employ the counterfeit word 'society' when what they are really describing is a mixed population. And of course 'population' can apply to any temporary or circumstantial concentration of people, from airline passengers to 'inner city' areas. The modern world has many pseudo-nations with populations sharing little more than an arbitrarily-defined territory, as witness the recurring inter-racial and inter-tribal massacres of the post-colonial era.

• 'Discrimination' means recognising real differences, which may or may not influence personal preferences. The term is indivisibly linked with loyalty, since that word denotes discrimination bonded to preference. What is commonly referred to as 'racial discrimination' is therefore neither more nor less than loyalty to one's own kind. And this is surely just as much a human right as anything in the democratic charter.
Like authority and responsibility, therefore, loyalty and discrimination are the indivisible sides of any honest coinage in human society; you can't have one without the other.

• 'Integration' means the combination of different elements into an entity which could not otherwise exist . Thus the yolk is integral to the egg as the egg is to the omelette. It follows that manifestly alien races cannot be 'integral' to British society, since that society has been demonstrating its ability to exist very successfully without them for many centuries. In down-to-earth language, therefore, British society does not need alien immigrants, and their recent arrival is indicative of their need, not ours. When liberals speak of 'integration', therefore, what they really have in mind is an entirely synthetic 'nation' altogether different from what the world has always recognized as distinctively British. So be very clear about this: 'integration' of Third World immigrants necessarily involves the dissolution of British identity.

• 'Unity in Diversity' is the parrot-cry of liberal propagandists everywhere. How strange that this utopian state of affairs has somehow eluded the Arabs and Israelis, Serbs and Croats, Hindus and Muslims, Ulster Catholics and Protestants, African tribes and indeed all the other disparate groups of humanity, notwithstanding centuries of physical proximity. Of course, the fatal flaw of this liberal slogan is its assumption that the factors making for diversity will always give ground to those making for unity.
Tell that to the millions of Muslims in the UK for whom the Sharia (Islamic law) takes precedence over British law and custom. Tell it to the victims of tribal, racial and religious genocide in Africa, Asia, Palestine and Iraq, for example. (But only if you use the telephone).

• 'Community' Another liberal buzz-word implying an identity of interest and purpose where none actually exists among disparate racial and religious groups. The liberal propagandist invariably applies this fraudulent term to multi-racial areas.

• 'Asylum' denotes a place of safety from some actual or perceived danger. The liberals would have us believe that Britain must provide such refuge for people the world over, even if they have to cross continents and oceans in order to take up residence in this small over-crowded country off the northern coast of Europe. But as we all know by now, affluence and not 'asylum' is the goal of these immigrant opportunists.

• 'Fascist/neo-Nazi/right-wing extremist' is shorthand for anyone at all dissenting from the liberals' globalist and multi-racist ideologies. Such labelling tactics always identify the users as people who know they will lose all the political arguments that really matter.

• 'Democratic mandate' is the Labour government's pious imposture, since it gained office with less than one in four votes . On issues like immigration and the European Union , for example, this government is totally unrepresentative of the public interest.

• 'Globalism' is a concept which sees all national considerations being dissolved by an emergent international consensus of some kind yet to be defined. The 'solvents' are identified as modern transport ,communications technology, multi-national business corporations, economic factors, environmental concerns and multi-racial politics. But this 'melting-pot' scenario is repudiated by almost every world news bulletin reflecting the same old racial , religious and ideological issues dividing the world. The best anybody can hope for in this world is international cooperation to mutual advantage, led by those nations with the best record of socio-economic and cultural achievement.
Which makes it imperative to preserve Western civilization at its best if the world is to have a worthwhile future ; and the rest of the world can only benefit, as it always has, from the achievements of this enlightened racial nationalism.

• 'Identity' is a subject which clearly agitates liberals and immigrants a great deal, whereas the rest of us see no reason at all to question who and what we are . That Third World immigrants feel they don't belong in British society is perfectly understandable : it's because they don't. Hence sad specimens like 'Darcus Howe', a prominent Black operative in the Race Relations Industry ; still wearing his archaic 'plantation-name,' not having a Black lady as his wife , and whingeing his way through the media in search of some definition of 'British' which might include people like himself. Needless to say, he'll never find one. The continuing exodus from what describes itself as the Conservative Party is only one example of the British people's attitude towards 'inclusiveness' at any price. Anyone unable to recall his or her identity is properly regarded as mentally afflicted ; and by the same token a nation that loses its sense of identity is unfit to face the world. Indeed, whatever may be predicated about that 'nation' becomes, like a sentence without a subject, totally meaningless.

To conclude, one must be just as alert for politicians using counterfeit words as for people using counterfeit money , since the failure to identify either is bound to be ruinous. And as Socrates so ably demonstrated, wisdom very largely consists not in propounding one's own doctrines but in exposing the falsity of other people's. The truth shall make us free.

THE REAL HOLOCAUST!

The dreadful famine that engulfed Ukraine, the northern Caucasus, and the lower Volga River area in 1932-1933 was the result of Joseph Stalin's policy of forced collectivisation. The heaviest losses occurred in Ukraine, which had been the most productive agricultural area of the Soviet Union. Stalin was determined to crush all vestiges of Ukrainian nationalism. Thus, the famine was accompanied by a devastating purge of the Ukrainian intelligentsia and the Ukrainian Communist party itself. The famine broke the peasants' will to resist collectivisation and left Ukraine politically, socially, and psychologically traumatized.

The policy of all-out collectivisation instituted by Stalin in 1929 to finance industrialization had a disastrous effect on agricultural productivity. Nevertheless, in 1932 Stalin raised Ukraine's grain procurement quotas by forty-four percent. This meant that there would not be enough grain to feed the peasants, since Soviet law required that no grain from a collective farm could be given to the members of the farm until the government's quota was met. Stalin's decision and the methods used to implement it condemned millions of peasants to death by starvation. Party officials, with the aid of regular troops and secret police units, waged a merciless war of attrition against peasants who refused to give up their grain. Even indispensable seed grain was forcibly confiscated from peasant households. Any man, woman, or child caught taking even a handful of grain from a collective farm could be, and often was, executed or deported. Those who did not appear to be starving were often suspected of hoarding grain. Peasants were prevented from leaving their villages by the NKVD and a system of internal passports.

The death toll from the 1932-33 famine in Ukraine has been estimated between six million and seven million. According to a Soviet author, "Before they died, people often lost their senses and ceased to be human beings." Yet one of Stalin's lieutenants in Ukraine stated in 1933 that the famine was a great success. It showed the peasants "who is the master here. It cost millions of lives, but the collective farm system is here to stay."

Whilst ZOG continues to beat the controversial "Holocaust drum" - a very real Holocaust - that by Godless blood-drenched Communists, led by rootless Cosmopolitans, attacked the White people of the Ukraine in a concerted effort to exterminate a class and a people - the Ukranian Kulaks/ This REAL Holocaust - and for once the picture on the left is not FAKE nor doctored - is forgotten whilst we are deafened by ZOG's media barrage on the 'Myth of the Six Million'.

The last survivor of World War One's famous Christmas Day truce died in November aged 109

Black Watch veteran Alfred Anderson (right) passed away peacefully in his sleep at a nursing home.

Alfred, who was Scotland's oldest man, spoke movingly only this month of the unofficial truce on Christmas morning, 1914, along all 500 miles of the Western Front.

British and German soldiers crossed the shell-blasted mud of no-man's-land to shake hands, sing carols and share cigs.

Some enemy troops famously played football together, kicking around empty bully-beef cans.

In BBC1 documentary The Last Tommy, Alfred recalled: "All I'd heard for two months in the trenches was the hissing, cracking and whining of bullets in flight, machine-gun fire and distant German voices.

But there was a dead silence that morning, right across the land as far as you could see.

We shouted, 'Merry Christmas,' even though nobody felt merry.

The silence ended early in the afternoon and the killing started again. It was a short peace in a terrible war."

Alfred was invalided out in 1916, married and took over his dad's building and joinery business in Newtyle, Dundee.

In 1998 he was awarded France's highest honour, the Legion d'Honneur.

And he was visited by Prince Charles in 2003 after the Royal learned he had served as batman to Captain Fergus Bowes-Lyon, the late Queen Mother's brother. Alfred had six children, outliving two.

His death in a nursing home in Newtyle leaves the number of surviving WWI servicemen at eight.

Lieutenant Colonel Roddy Riddell, regimental secretary of the Black Watch, said: "It really is the end of an epoch".

We remember a real White Nationalist - A tribute to Robert Relf

Robert Relf came to public attention many years ago in 1976 when he became a victim of the Race Relations thought police after putting up a board in his front garden which read, "FOR SALE TO ENGLISH PEOPLE ONLY". For this purported crime he was sent to jail. Fed up with the injustice, he went on hunger strike until his condition became life threatening. At this point the then Home Secretary, William Whitelaw, became nervous and arranged for his release. Robert came out just in time to be the Guest of Honour at that year's National Front Annual General meeting. Typically Robert supported all White Nationalist groups. Whitelaw was nicknamed "Wetlaw" on account of having no backbone when it came to standing up for the British. He was typical of most of the treasonous Thatcher government.

Then in another act of defiance, Robert Relf refused to complete his census form because he was unable to describe himself as "English" on it. For this act of defiance he was sentenced to three days in prison. He was the only person in Britain to be jailed for a census offence to this day.

A true patriot, Robert saw red when he heard that police officers in the Midlands had ordered a newsagent to remove from his window a flag advertising St George's Day. In a rage, this English patriot sent out postcards bearing the word "traitors" and the message that he was annoyed that immigrants were complaining about our flag. These he sent to senior police chiefs to let them know what he thought of their despicable behaviour. Mr. Relf said that he was "trying to wake people up to the fact that it was St George's Day." After admitting to sending the so-called abusive postcards, Robert was fined £500. He was also fined a further £55 for sending what was described as "an offensive cartoon of a racial type" to a female inspector.

Robert told the court that he has no intention of paying any fines and on a matter of principle would go to prison.

In court he said "Immigrants come to this country from the four corners of the earth. They live the life of old Riley and then have the audacity to have a go at our flag." He added, "Being English is like being a minority in this After the government's decision to give Community Service to criminals rather than send them to prison, Relf decided to put this to the test. He asked the magistrate if he could do Community Service but was told that this is not an option for non-payment of fines. There is no room for serious criminals but it seems they can always find space for the likes of Robert Relf and farmer Tony Martin - jailed for defending his own farm against burglars! Brave Robert then declared that he would go to Canterbury prison and starve himself to death.

This is what he said in 2002 to the court :-
Robert Relf, 77, said he had refused to complete the form because it had no space to give his nationality as English, rather than British.
Relf, from Birchington, Kent, was fined £100 by Margate magistrates last September for the offence, but he had refused to pay. He told the court: "On the form you could say you were Chinese, Japanese, Pekinese, but you could not say you were English. You had to be British."

Mr K. Kitchen, a supporter of Robert Relf, had a letter printed in their local newspaper. It said that people should take note that they are dealing with a man who served King and country, when for six years we worked, fought and bled, in response to the call to "keep an invader from our shores."

Robert Relf's long fight to preserve the country he loved, its people and its values may now be over but his spirit of defiance to the Westminster traitors shines as an example and a beacon to all who fight for liberty and freedom in Britain.

The BPP salutes him!

If the courage of White Britons such as Robert Relf was followed by all White Nationalists then the System could NOT walk all over the native people of this land! By his determined stand to face continual imprisonment and even death through hunger strike, Bob Relf showed that thee are still men women of spirit willing to stand up and be counted in this final 'Battle for Britain'.

The BPP is continuing this fight!

MI5 Tortured and Abused German Prisoners In Secret WWII Torture Centre

The thinking public continues to be shocked by the secret War on Terror detention centres maintained across the world by British and American security agencies. Less well known are those operated inside Israel by the bandit Zionist military and its Secret Service accomplices.

While the main Coalition prison and interrogation centre at Abu Ghraib in Baghdad has been widely exposed, only a handful of the above secret centres have been uncovered and precious little detail is available about them.

In the same way that older readers who remember American brutality during the Vietnam War should not be surprised by events at Abu Ghraib, informed British readers will remember how the British Army's post - D-Day 'No Prisoners' order saw the widespread shooting of surrendered German troops in war-torn Normandy.

Sixty years on, see below Press article, declassified documents have exposed a secret MI5 interrogation and torture centre in which, during and after World War Two, German military and civilian prisoners were subjected to physical and mental abuse.

Just a few days ago, the UK's Guardian newspaper briefly described how recently released National Archives papers confirm the existence of a 'UK wartime torture camp' whose methods were at least on a par with and in some ways far exceeded the abuses meted out to Iraqi prisoners at Abu Ghraib.

BPP supporters who live near the National Archives, at Richmond in Surrey, and who can volunteer to help with more information from the above files are invited to contact 'Imperium' magazine Editor Rob McNeil: (imperiumedit@ntlworld.com).

Revealed: UK wartime torture camp

The British government operated a secret torture centre during the second world war to extract information and confessions from German prisoners, according to official papers which have been unearthed by the Guardian.

More than 3,000 prisoners passed through the centre, where many were systematically beaten, deprived of sleep, forced to stand still for more than 24 hours at a time and threatened with execution or unnecessary surgery.

Some are also alleged to have been starved and subjected to extremes of temperature in specially built showers, while others later complained that they had been threatened with electric shock torture or menaced by interrogators brandishing red-hot pokers.

The centre, which was housed in a row of mansions in one of London's most affluent neighbourhoods, was carefully concealed from the Red Cross, the papers show. It continued to operate for three years after the war, during which time a number of German civilians were also tortured.

A subsequent assessment by MI5, the Security Service, concluded that the commanding officer had been guilty of "clear breaches" of the Geneva convention and that some interrogation methods "completely contradicted" international law.

On at least one occasion, an MI5 officer noted in a newly declassified report, a German prisoner was convicted of war crimes and hanged on the basis of a confession which he had signed after he was, at the very least, "worked on psychologically". A number of people who appeared as prosecution witnesses at war crimes trials are also alleged to have been tortured.

The official papers, discovered in the National Archives, depict the centre as a dark, brutal place which caused great unease among senior British officers. They appear to have turned a blind eye partly because of the usefulness of the information extracted, and partly because the detainees were thought to deserve ill treatment.

Not all the torture centre's secrets have yet emerged, however: the Ministry of Defence is continuing to withhold some of the papers almost 60 years after it was closed down.

One of the 100,000 German POW's who simply disappeared after the end of the war. We recommend readers to read the book "Other Losses" about this dark period. Whilst they continually crow about the so-called Holocaust, nobody questions this vast number of Germans murdered.
